

Persuasive Writing Examples

Dear Teachers,

Here are some examples of persuasive writing created by Adams 12 Five Star students from various grade levels. Names have been removed for privacy. These examples were created and published by students, and can serve as some examples for the choice writing units in first, second, and third trimester.

Mommy and Daddy

December 15 2005

Dear Mommy and Daddy,

At night before we go to bed we always watch a movie. What I would like is if we could play a family game instead of watching a movie. One reason it would be better to play a game is because when we're watching a movie our brain is flat like a popped balloon but when we're playing a game our brain works. Thankyou for considering my request.

Yours truly,

To Whom it May Concern, 11-24-08

We are worried
at _____ graders in Westminster, Colorado. We read an article about frogs and that they are endangered. We want to save them. For example there is a pond by Quail Crossing that is being dug up. There used to be frogs there. Please help us because we don't know how to save helpless beautiful little critters.

We seriously need ideas to help them!

Thank you. If you can Please write back. Please help.

Warm fuzzy
regards.

Dear Mr.

I am a smart fourth grader named ... and I am asking if you can make lunch healthier for kids at ... Elem.

The reason why we need healthier lunches is because it helps kids' brains focus more, it gives them energy, it helps bodies grow strong, it makes kids healthier, and it costs less. In a paragraph

I read a school named Appleton school changed their lunch and when they changed

if it cost less. I suggest we change our food to Natural Ovens Bakery. The problem with our lunches is that it's bad for your body to eat food with a lot of sugar and white flour in it. If you can change it that would be great.

Sincerely,

Horrible Waffles

Written by the waffle haters in Ms.

's Class February 2, 2006

Some people in Ms. 's class don't like waffles. We think that waffles are too sticky with syrup. The waffles are too squishy. We think waffles are too soggy. We might say, "I won't eat that thing! Ewww! Yucky! Gross! Disgusting! Sticky! Get that thing out of my face. Waffles are horrible. Never buy that AGAIN! I will not eat that lady or mister! (We don't know which.) I will not eat that sister! I don't like waffles. Goodbye Waffles."

Waffle Mania

Written by the waffle lovers in Ms. _____'s Class February 1, 2006

Most people in Ms. _____'s class are waffle MANIACS! Twelve people (including Ms. _____) ate waffles in the last week. We are waffle MANIACS. We LOVE syrup on our waffles. It is creamy and light brown. It makes it look so good, you just can't stand looking at it any longer. You can't resist the waffles. You HAVE to eat it. It's like you don't even want a fork, you just want to stuff it in your mouth and lick all the syrup off until it is all gone. You want to eat all the waffles you can eat. Gobble! Gobble!

Silly Bandz Debate

Freedom to Express Ourselves

by

Yes! Kids should be able to wear Silly Bandz to school because they give kids a chance to be free and express themselves and be original. I think we should only wear the Bandz at recess or Friday Fun, so we are not distracted by them and we can still learn. Sometimes kids get into fights because they traded a Silly Band and wanted it back. You should not trade the ones you want to keep. So when you trade, decide if you want the band or not! That is why I think we should keep Silly Bandz.

Nothing but Trouble!

by

I think we should ban Silly Bandz because people are getting into trouble and have to put them in their backpacks. Also because when we are at specials we mess with them. Then the teacher takes them away. This causes more trouble because when we go home your mom or dad will ask, "Where are your Silly Bands?" Then they will get mad because they paid for them. Save stress. Ban Silly Bandz!
